Ellen is a one year old neutered female. She is a nice quiet cat but stays aware of her surrounding at all times and will not approach until she is given affection. She likes to spend time in her hidey bed and hidey hole in her scratching post as she is not confident enough to come out by herself.

Once Ellen is receiving fuss she really enjoys it and you can see her loving nature. She often head bumps your hands for more and gently paws and nibbles when over aroused as she enjoys it so much.

She has grown in confidence every day since coming in and is doing incredibly well. She will benefit from being in an adult home as the only pet to ensure she continues to grown in confidence and will make a really sweet companion.

This assessment is ongoing and aspects may change as time goes by.
