Sammy is a fun loving medium sized staffy. He has a lot of energy and will require an experienced and active owner who can provide him with plenty of exercise and enrichment. He is very responsive to training and would benefit from further training to help him focus and to give him clear and consistent boundaries. He would really benefit from an activity such as agility, he has attempted it here at the centre, he responded brilliantly and absolutely loved it. Sammy is reactive towards other dogs so can not be rehomed with another dog and will need further positive socialising in a controlled environment, He cannot live with a cat! Ideally Sammy should live in an adult only home but could live with children 16+, this is due to his high energy and excitability. Sammy will require an active family but not a family with a busy lifestyle.
