Sylvester is a sweet boy, he loves having a stroke but can be nervous when he is new to a situation but when he is given a short period of time to feel comfortable his true kind and loving affectionate shines through.

Sylvester spends most of his time snoozing under his bed, yes under his bed, such a unique little love. as soon as you make your presence known he doesn't think twice about getting up from his comforts for some affection.

Whilst being groomed he was unsure about the brush and wanted me to stop so he could sniff the brush, if given time to make it positive he could come round but he much prefers the glove. He hasn't shown any interest in toys, he just seems to enjoy his creature comforts.

Sylvester will thrive in a quieter home with plenty of comfortable places to lay his handsome little head.
